The Comptroller apparently considers that a person coming to Bangalore for training cannot be regarded as on transfer and therefore not entitled to draw an advance of pay under article 137 C.A.C. The period of training extends over a year and the change of station involves breaking up of Establishment at one place & setting it up again in another. This is the real reason for sanctioning an advance and as this reason is to be found in the present instance as well, the ~~Comptr's interpretation~~ D.G.P's interpretation that advances are admissible under article 137 in these cases seems to be reasonable & may be accepted. The interpretation of the Comptr's office may be literally correct but it is difficult to draw a distinction between an officer leaving a place for a year's training and another who is transferred in the ordinary course. Even in the case of one who is deputed for training there is no certainty that he will be sent back after the period of training to the original place - therefore advances may be held admissible for such period of training

3) I am agreeable to a liberal interpretation of the rule in the case of such low paid men under the circumstances reported.

SERIAL No.

To

The Secretary to the Government of
His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore,
General Department.

Sir.

I have the honor to state that the Second Term of the Central Police School for Constables expired on 20th December 1915, and the one hundred men who were under Training for the last six months had to be sent back to their respective Taluks. The men had to be given advances for trainage etc. to reach their Taluks and a sum of Rs250/- is required for this purpose. The permanent advance of Rs250/- of the School had all been spent for feeding the constables in the School Hostel, during December 1915 and no amount was available to advance for trainage etc. I therefore directed that advance of pay may be drawn for the constables under Article 137 Civil Account Code, treating their coming to Bangalore for training, and their going back after training, as transfers in the interests of Public Service. The Comptroller in his memo No. 117 dated 20th December 1915 (memo attached) has ordered that the case does not fall under Article 137 (b) and that sanction of Government should be obtained.

2. I am of opinion that when a constable joins the School from a Taluk, the Head Quarters of the man is changed and the same happens in the case of his return also. This is recognised for purposes of travelling allowances and Bangalore is shown as Head Quarters of the constables under training. With due deference to the Comptroller's view I consider the matter falls under Article 137 (b) of the Civil Account Code and request that advance of pay may be sanctioned to be drawn for the men to defray their travelling expenses etc, under the provisions of the said Article. If this be not possible, the permanent advance of the School may kindly be raised to Rs600/- to meet such expenses which recur every six months.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

Inspector General of Police.

As the whole of the permanent advance of the Police Training School had been spent in feeding the students in the School Hostel it was not available for making advances to the policemen returning to their H.Q.rs. after training in the School. The D.G.P. therefore decided that their pay may be drawn in advance under article 137(b) of the Civil Account Code treating their journeys to and from Bangalore as journeys on transfers in the interests of public service. But the Comptroller, being of opinion that the article referred to does not apply to the case in question, objected to such a course and requested the D.G. to obtain the sanction of Govt. in the matter. The D.G. is of opinion as considers that if the the Cadets are changed on their joining the School as well as on their relieving after training ~~and on their transfer~~ the case ~~of~~ falls under article 1376(b) of the Civil Account Code. He therefore requests ~~that~~ may be accorded sanction to the advance being drawn but that if this be not possible the permanent advance of the School may be raised to Rs 600.

The reason for sanctioning an advance in the case of transfer is that the change of station involves breaking up of establishment at one place and setting it up again in another and this reason is found in the present case as well, as the period of training extends over a period of one year.
